The payment of use tax on Thornton’s construction permit is an estimate, as a result there is typically a difference between the actual cost of the materials used on the project and the amount originally estimated. In order to reconcile these differences the General Contractor may (within 90 days of the issuance of the final Certificate of Occupancy) submit this complete “Project Cost Reconciliation Report” providing an accounting of actual materials/equipment/rental costs, including any supplied by sub-contractors. If such costs show that total use tax was underpaid, the General Contractor will be allowed to pay such tax within the 90 day period without any interest or penalty charges. If the total taxable cost indicates that use tax was overpaid, the General Contractor may apply for a refund. All projects for which a building permit is required are subject to audit by the City. If an audit reveals that use tax was underpaid, the tax, along with associated interest and penalty, will be assessed.
