VOLUNTEER THORNTON

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT I SHARON GROSSER

For Sharon Grosser, volunteering is about much more than lending a helping hand, it's about connection, community and putting a smile on someone's face.

Sharon has been a volunteer with the City of Thornton for eight years. After retiring from Adams 12, where she worked for 22 years, she began looking for meaningful ways to stay involved and connected following the loss of her husband. She initially volunteered with the NICU at St. Anthony Hospital before finding what she describes as a special connection at the City of Thornton's Active Adult Center (AAC).

From supporting a wide variety of activities at the AAC to helping with special events, Sharon has embraced every opportunity to pitch in. She remembers being warmly welcomed when she first became a city volunteer, a welcome that helped her feel at home right away. Today, Sharon considers the Active Adult Center her "home away from home."

Her approach to volunteering is simple: show up, be willing to help, and make someone's day a little brighter. Whether she's assisting with an event or handing out lunch wristbands, Sharon sees every task as an opportunity to connect with people.

"Even something as simple as providing lunch wristbands gives me a chance to talk to everybody and see how they're doing," she says.

Those everyday interactions are what make volunteering so rewarding for Sharon. Calm, organized, and always willing to step up, she has become someone others can count on.

For anyone considering becoming a City of Thornton volunteer, Sharon's advice is enthusiastic and heartfelt: go for it. She has found volunteering to be incredibly rewarding and loves knowing that even a small act can make a difference.

CREATING WITH CARTOONS: THE PAINTINGS AND TEXTILES OF DAVID JOHNSON

January 12-March 19

Reception
Friday, January 22, 6-8 p.m.

Free Community Class
Artistic Collage
Saturday, March 8, 11 a.m.-1 p.m.

Artist and teacher, David Johnson, creates his paintings and fiber artworks through the structure of a cartoon, which he considers the essential framework of a composition. The cartoon serves as the "skeleton" that provides the bones upon which he builds with organic forms and color. Johnson's approach is informed by a quote from Robert Frost, who said he would just as soon "play tennis with the net down as write in free verse." This philosophy is on display as David presents the 'common thread' between his two mediums.

PATTERNS OF PERMANENCE BY BALA THIAGARAJAN

Transmuting Feelings into Masterpieces
April 13 - June 18

Reception: Friday, April 23, 6-8 p.m.

Free Community Class
Drawing the Mandala: Pattern, Repetition & Symmetry
Saturday, May 8, 10 a.m.- noon

Bala Thiagarajan brings together South Indian visual traditions, mathematics, and science through intricately textured mandala paintings. Drawing from kolam and rangoli, symmetry, fractals, and patterns in nature, she builds each work freehand using repeated lines and raised acrylic textures. The exhibition explores patterns across culture and nature, transforming ephemeral traditions into lasting forms.

Members of the Thornton Masters Swim Team celebrate 30 years of swimming, friendship, and community. From first-time Masters swimmers to seasoned competitors, the team continues to bring people together to stay active, challenge themselves, and share a love of swimming.

30 Years of Making Waves

For 30 years, the Thornton Masters Swim Team has brought adult swimmers together at Carpenter Recreation Center to stay active, improve their skills, and build lasting friendships.

Since the program's early days, swimmers of all abilities have found a place on the team. Today, members range from their 20s through their 70s, creating a unique mix of experience, perspectives, and swimming goals. Whether preparing for competition, working toward a personal goal, or looking for a challenging workout and a welcoming community, swimmers are encouraged to grow and thrive.

The team's accomplishments over the decades reflect the dedication of its swimmers and the quality of its coaching. Thornton Masters swimmers have earned state championships, high-point honors, and top-three finishes, and the team has had state record holders among its members. Swimmers have also competed successfully at the national level, with Thornton Masters represented among USMS Top 10 finishers, national champions, and national record holders. Members have also earned Brute Squad and Sprint Squad honors.

The program's success isn't measured only by medals and records. Camaraderie, a welcoming atmosphere, and a strong team culture are the Hallmark of Thornton Masters. Creative coaching, quality training, social events, and friendships help swimmers challenge themselves and stay connected beyond the pool.

The program's history is also carried by the swimmers who have stayed with it through the years. Catherine Sauls and Joan Myers, two original team members from 1997, are still part of the program today. After nearly three decades, Thornton Masters continues to bring people together, one lap at a time, where experienced competitors and swimmers new to Masters can share a lane, pursue their goals, and be part of a team with a lasting legacy in Thornton.
