Community Emergency Response Training (CERT)

The Thornton Office of Emergency Management is offering its 2023 CERT Basic Training to all community members over the age of 18.

Community Emergency Response Training (CERT) is a national program that educates communities about natural and man-made hazards to prepare residents, government agencies, and private/non-profit organizations to enhance response capability and resiliency to recover after a local emergency or disaster.

Thornton CERT Training is 25 hours of hands-on training and exercise that prepares our whole community for an emergencies and disasters.

You'll learn skills in team-building, disaster preparedness, fire safety, medical response, psychology, and light search and rescue.

The training will culminate in a full-scale exercise where trainees can test their newly acquired skills in a mock disaster scenario.

To graduate and receive a certificate, you must complete all seven (7) days of training and participate in the exercise. Any classes missed can be taken at a later date or with another CERT Program in the Denver Area.

Upon completion you'll receive a certificate and (if available) supplies to get you started on your emergency kit.
