

Miscanthus sinensis 'Yaku Shima Dwarf'

Dwarf Maiden Grass

This midsize grass has narrow arching leaves with a clump forming habit. Don't let the name fool you as it can get fairly large, up to 4 feet in height. When in bloom it produces feathery pinkish spikelets in mid autumn. Works well when planted with other grasses in a prairie style garden. Water regularly the first year, then cut back to low. Cut down to 4-5 inches in spring.

Full sun, well draining soil, low to moderate water.
