

Schizachyrium scoparium Little Bluestem

This ornamental bunch grass displays intriguing color year round. In spring and summer the slender stems are a bluish-green which turns into a stunning mahogany red with fluffy white seed tufts in the fall and winter months. The seeds serve as a valuable food source for small birds in winter, so leave them until spring, then cut the grass down to 4-6 inches. Low water, plant in full sun.

Height 2-4' Spread 12"

USDA Zones: 3-8

